

Admission Policy

Revival Home Health Care aims to align our service offerings with the needs of our patients and their caregivers. However, due to insurance requirements and occasional staffing constraints, there are limitations to the services we can offer. VNA Care's certified home health is not able to accept patients with the following needs or limitations at this time:

- Intravenous infusions ordered more frequently than once a day unless there is a willing and able caregiver that can be taught to administer the infusion
- Patients with certain insurances
- Patients whose needs exceed our staffing capacity
- Patients whose needs cannot be safely met in the home with intermittent, short-term services from our agency
- Patients whose needs are chronic (not likely to resolve) and long-standing unless there is a specific ongoing need to provide a treatment that requires the skills of a nurse.
- Patients who need custodial care only (help around the house, supervision for safety, companionship)

Patients whose needs exceed what we are able to provide under our home health program may be eligible for admission to another home care service provider.
